

Community Organizing & Coalition Building

Learner guide | SWP-014 | School of Community & Macro Practice

This guide supports a three-part learning sequence for Community Organizing & Coalition Building. By the end of the course, you should be able to mobilise communities and partners around shared, achievable goals.

Practice notice: Apply the law, organisational policy, supervision requirements, and approved referral pathways that govern your setting. This material supports learning and does not replace urgent safeguarding, clinical, or legal procedures.

Learning objectives

- Mobilise communities and partners around shared, achievable goals.
- Apply the key ideas from Organising foundations.
- Apply the key ideas from Coalition formation.
- Apply the key ideas from Campaign action.

Course structure

| Module                    | Focus                                                                          | Suggested study time |
|---------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| 1. Organising foundations | power analysis, community leadership, issue selection, and trust building      | 10 to 15 minutes     |
| 2. Coalition formation    | partners, roles, governance, communication, conflict management, and inclusion | 10 to 15 minutes     |
| 3. Campaign action        | strategy, tactics, mobilisation, evaluation, and sustainability                | 10 to 15 minutes     |

Module 1 Organising foundations

This module focuses on power analysis, community leadership, issue selection, and trust building. Work through the material with a current practice setting in mind, but remove identifying information from any examples you record.

What to pay attention to

- Power analysis
- Community leadership
- Issue selection
- Trust building

Learning sequence

Start by defining the purpose of organising foundations in relation to the course outcome. Notice where professional judgement is needed and where a local procedure must guide the next step.

Examine the practical implications of power analysis, community leadership, issue selection, and trust building. Separate observations from assumptions, identify strengths as well as concerns, and be clear about information that must be checked with a person, family, colleague, or approved source.

Use a respectful, collaborative approach. Explain your role, seek informed participation where appropriate, and document only information that is relevant, accurate, and necessary for the purpose of the work.

When a concern exceeds your role, supervision, competence, or authority, pause and use the correct escalation route. A prompt referral and a clear handover can protect continuity of support.

Practice reflection

Choose a de-identified practice situation. What information would help you work through organising foundations safely, and what would require consultation or a local policy check?

Module 2 Coalition formation

This module focuses on partners, roles, governance, communication, conflict management, and inclusion. Work through the material with a current practice setting in mind, but remove identifying information from any examples you record.

What to pay attention to

- Partners
- Roles
- Governance
- Communication
- Conflict management
- Inclusion

Learning sequence

Start by defining the purpose of coalition formation in relation to the course outcome. Notice where professional judgement is needed and where a local procedure must guide the next step.

Examine the practical implications of partners, roles, governance, communication, conflict management, and inclusion. Separate observations from assumptions, identify strengths as well as concerns, and be clear about information that must be checked with a person, family, colleague, or approved source.

Use a respectful, collaborative approach. Explain your role, seek informed participation where appropriate, and document only information that is relevant, accurate, and necessary for the purpose of the work.

When a concern exceeds your role, supervision, competence, or authority, pause and use the correct escalation route. A prompt referral and a clear handover can protect continuity of support.

Practice reflection

Choose a de-identified practice situation. What information would help you work through coalition formation safely, and what would require consultation or a local policy check?

Module 3 Campaign action

This module focuses on strategy, tactics, mobilisation, evaluation, and sustainability. Work through the material with a current practice setting in mind, but remove identifying information from any examples you record.

What to pay attention to

- Strategy
- Tactics
- Mobilisation
- Evaluation
- Sustainability

Learning sequence

Start by defining the purpose of campaign action in relation to the course outcome. Notice where professional judgement is needed and where a local procedure must guide the next step.

Examine the practical implications of strategy, tactics, mobilisation, evaluation, and sustainability. Separate observations from assumptions, identify strengths as well as concerns, and be clear about information that must be checked with a person, family, colleague, or approved source.

Use a respectful, collaborative approach. Explain your role, seek informed participation where appropriate, and document only information that is relevant, accurate, and necessary for the purpose of the work.

When a concern exceeds your role, supervision, competence, or authority, pause and use the correct escalation route. A prompt referral and a clear handover can protect continuity of support.

Practice reflection

Choose a de-identified practice situation. What information would help you work through campaign action safely, and what would require consultation or a local policy check?

Course activity

Use the accompanying worksheet to apply the course sequence to a short case. Your completed activity should show what you noticed, the action you would take within your role, and what you would escalate or verify locally.

Assessment preparation

- Review the distinction between: organising principles.
- Review the distinction between: coalition roles.
- Review the distinction between: ethical mobilisation.

References and local adaptation

- SWEEP Academy Course Content Outlines, production blueprint for this course.
- The current legislation, professional standards, safeguarding procedures, and referral directories for the delivery jurisdiction.
- The learner's employer or placement policy, supervision arrangements, and documentation standards.